TEACHERS' DAY

SEP- OCT 2014

Our teachers, our gurus, are the messengers of God who teach us and guide us. There is no specific day to thank them for their hard work.

But, teachers' day celebrated on 5th Sept every year, is a very special day which is meant just for our guiding angels.

In the year 2014, the students of Army Public School Kirkee guided by a few teachers brought forth a beautiful way of appreciating teachers. One of the many surprises for the teachers were the pretty cards made by students as a token of love.

On this day, students of class IX and X were invited to enjoy this celebration with the teachers. The function was held at the BSSI hall. The function began with the school prayer and the AWES song following which a short speech was delivered by the Head Girl and the Head Boy. The school choir sang a medley of songs which included both new and old melodies inviting a loud round of applause. A few selected volunteers presented the cards that were encased in white envelopes to our wonderful teachers.

The school band performed some exceptional songs.

I must say, they totally rocked. The students of XII th standard performed a play which was memorous and wonderfully enacted. Then there was the dance performed by students that made everyone tap their feet excitedly.

The cherry on top of the cake was our honourable Prime Minister Mr. Narandra Modi's live speech. While Mr. Modi was interacting with students, it seemed like he himself was present in the hall and students clapped for him endlessly. The speech continued till 5pm. His views, without any doubt were very inspiring, precise and clear. Long afterwards we kept thinking about how effective the whole education system would be if teachers and students could interact with responsibility and respect.

DIYA MAKING

Lighting and decorating diyas for Diwali has been a part of our tradition since time immemorial. To our immense delight our Art teacher, Mrs Radha Vashisht gave us the opportunity of decorating diyas in school. Under her able guidance, the students of Classes VI, VII and VIII decorated diyas with sequins, glass, paint and glitter. The enthusiasm of the students was commendable, as each student exercised his/her creativity, making every diya unique. These diyas were presented to all the teachers, as a token of love and respect, on the occasion of Diwali. The diyas and the thought behind them were greatly appreciated by the teachers. It was indeed a very enjoyable and enriching experience for teachers and students alike and also an amazing way to celebrate Diwali.

MARATHON ON EKTA DIWAS

Sardar Vallabh Bhai Patel, one of our greatest freedom fighters, always wished for India to be united. So, on his birthday, we celebrated 'Ekta Diwas' or 'Unity Day'. A marathon was organised by our school and we made placards, posters and banners based on unity. The chief guest Col. Mohit Nangia, CO Depot Battalion admired our work and encouraged us by waving the flag for us to begin the marathon. During the marathon all of us ran together in unison with a spirit to reach our goal. Our teachers cheered for us and the Scouts and Guides directed us throughout the way. When we returned we were pleasantly welcomed by the teachers and were offered glucose drinks to revive our spirits. The day was very eventful and no doubt has left an imprint on our minds. It felt great to be an active participant of Ekta Diwas.

A MIND OPENER...

Our school has always tried to inculcate good habits and values in us; and in October, a street play by the students attempted to build up our awareness.

Our senior wing organized a splendid street-play to drive home the fact that crime against children is rampant in the society and we must be aware of the 'good' and 'bad' touch.

The play began with a man persuading his friend's child to come over to his place for his holidays. There, the poor child was abused badly and when he tried to explain this to his mother, the ignorant lady paid no heed. The audience watched in grave silence while the story unfolded. It was not difficult to understand why our country is so full of such dreadful crimes.

In another incident, a mother and daughter made their way to a clinic, where the mother was upset about her daughter's poor appetite. The doctor asked the mother to go away while he tended to the little girl. To her horror, she became a hapless victim of his unfair advances.

The next scene portrayed a girl being eve-teased by two boys, who were extremely carefree. They said disgraceful things about the girl, eve-teasing her every time they got a chance .

Well, after being insulted so much, the girl decided to speak up. She screamed at them, showing them that if a person is quiet, it does not give anybody the right to toss her self-respect around. I dare say this is the wisest thing to do.

A positive ending then followed, with the people criticising the two boys and the doctor appeared and started lecturing the boys for behaving improperly. That is when the little girl from the second scene spoke up, "I don't think you are squeaky clean as far as this goes!".The audience cheered the girl and this made the play a success.

It actually does surprise me to see how the scenario changes when, for a change, the victim speaks up. Support is never scarce. So, speak up!
